Smarty Pants.....,

Smarty Pants.....

Six inch nails, chains and some tough roadies who beat up their lead singer for jumping on the P.A. system all go to make up the HEAVY METAL KIDS.

By the way, my name is Smarty Pants, I could win a girl with just one glance and nothing really matters.....

Well a guy from Malvern won the Master Mind whatsit of the year, so we thought Smarty Pants, oh well, forget it then!

Well it's the KURSAALS tonight, a band we are all looking forward to seeing. February 26th sees the return of Be-Bop--Deluxe with the phenomenal Doctors of Madness. Tickets £1 in advance and £1.20 on the door. Now on Tuesday, 9th March we have a band that you might not be too familiar with- Max Merritt and the Meteors and you can take it from us they are well worth seeing. Some of you may remember a superb single by them called 'Slipping Away', which was released late last year. All tickets for this concert will be at the ridiculously low price of 75p and if you purchase in advance you will also get a free single by the band. On the night we shall be giving away FREE Max Merritt posters, stickers and L.P.s, so it's well worth saying goodbye to 75p, isn't it?

Incidentally thank you all for the Christmas cards and things, most kind. We trust you all had a good time, not too much to eat

Oh yea if William Martin Lee is here tonight, will you please call in at the office, thanks.

Until BE-BOP then, see yer all, be good'.
