A TEEN AGE WARNING !

Since the beginning of this year we have experienced more and more aggravation at gigs all over the Country, in particular, London. Some people read gig reviews where violence has occurred and think they have to behave in the same way to be 'hip'. We have enough problems putting on gigs at the Gardens, without a load of mindless morons starting scraps! Back in 1977, when we had "The Damned" and "The Jam", etc., things were very different; there was more of a feeling of conviction and unity. The police, council authorities and Establishment in general hate anything to do with something new that they cannot comprehend, or that threatens their day-to-day routines. Fact was, back in '77 the Council, police and authorities had to stand by, helpless as we, like others, promoted punk gig after punk gig without any cause for complaint. Now in the Autumn of 1979 it's a different story innit! "Is my image right for your fashion parade?" It's time everybody started to do a bit of thinking instead of posing around in the latest fashion garb! We should be joining together to form one, not fighting amongst ourselves.

Last gig we did we had fights inside and out, public telephones broken, posters ripped off billboards, rubbish bins chucked into the roads, disturbances at local pubs, etc., etc. Get the picture, anything that gets broken or damaged on the night we have a gig at the Gardens, you get blamed for! We can't accept for one minute that everything that goes wrong in the town is the fault of people that attend these gigs. There is a small minority of people that come here just for a fight, well you can just 'Naff Off' to a football match and have a go at some of your own sort!! Anyone caught causing any sort of disturbance inside the Gardens will be photographed, chucked out and never allowed to darken ~~these~~ doors again. It doesn't matter who started what, both parties will be out. We're not putting up with any more garbage from a small minority of thick, brainless prats! The people that this refers to probably aren't reading this, as they're illiterate anyway, so if you know um perhaps you'd tell um!

Those of you that have moaned about the price of the Banshees tickets, tuff; you shouldn't have voted Tory! Sure, the other mob aint much better, but at least they were gonna leave VAT as it stood. Now, because of that literally everything has increased drastically. Do you remember earlier on this year when the petrol tanker drivers were on strike? All they wanted was a basic wage of £60 a week or something like that. The petrol companies said that was not on. Two weeks ago the Shell Petrol Company announced profits of 3 million pounds for the last year!!!

Next gig here then is the return of "Stiff Little Fingers", tickets on sale tonight from the Bubbles Stall in the Bar. Lene Lovich tickets will be on sale in the next few days. O.K. Bubbles also have the latest issue of the local rag, "Rock News" on sale at their stall. It's full of local news and well worth it at only 10p.

The Phoenix Club is back again next month on 2 October, with a local night. 30 October is Deadly Toys, and 20 November is Stuff Movies.

A sad postscript to the evening is that once again, a minority managed to 'spoil' things for the majority. A few skinheads, members of a certain foul organisation, were enough to leave a bad taste in everyone's mouths

The Nashville crowd feel the same way and punks and skins down the front pogo and sing along oblivious to the demands of fashion.

If you don't already listen to Mike Reid 8 till 10 p.m. weekdays, Radio 1, you ought to. He plays some good stuff!
